We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by J. G. Polster.

About a year ago Clark Duff's saddle was stolen, but no trace of it was discovered. Constable John Jones located it the other day. The saddle was stolen by General Wayne, who is now in the penitentiary for a series of later misdeeds. This makes about seven or eleven crimes charged against Wayne.

It is rather hard on those journals that have been denying the utterances of the London Financial News, to have the fact established beyond dispute that the Financial News did declare that a silver basis in the United States would ruin British trade in less than a year. Denying and claiming everything have been overdone by the yellow press. —Post-Dispatch.

Harry Stein showed us this week some samples of the "Vineless Gold Coin Potato" sweet potato which he raised this season. Along last spring he received a sample potato by mail and sprouted it, 60 good healthy sprouts being the result. These he set out and from them raised three bushels of fine potatoes. These potatoes grow in bunches, from six to ten in a bunch, with a short top something like an ordinary Irish potato in length. He will probably have some to sell next spring.

ALL FOR BRYAN.

From Springfield (Mo.) Chronicle, Oct. 7.

"Just say that I have made another United States citizen," said Miss Lathin in the United States circuit clerk's office at the government building this morning as she put the finishing touches to a document which will permit Herman H. Rueter, a native of Prussia, to vote at the coming election. "And you may also say that this means another vote for the gold standard," continued that lady with a questioning look at the new American citizen.

But Mr. Rueter denied the allegation and said that while he had always been in sympathy with the Republicans he would cast his first vote for Bryan and free silver.

Mr. Rueter lives at Baxter Springs, Kas., and he, in company with O. N. Baldwin and Thomas Waugh, two free silver Republicans from the same place, have been down in Taney county locating homesteads with a view to opening up a stock ranch.

The land which they entered this morning is located six miles south of Hercules, in Taney county. They will return to Kansas, remain until after the election and will move their families to Missouri and become permanent residents of the state early next spring.

It is a significant fact that four gentlemen who were present in Miss Lathin's office at the time, all pleaded guilty to being Republicans, but each declared his intention to vote for Bryan.

Yes, it is a fact—the "gold craze" is dying out.

PAINT.—This is the season of the year and the best time to do painting, and the best place to buy paint is at Polster's Corner Drug Store.

The gold standard meeting last Friday night at the cold storage institute on Military street was not a grand success from either point of numbers in attendance, nor eloquence. D. A. Baugh of Great Bend, Kansas, was the orator, and it is said large chunks of coolness were visible on every hand during the evening. The meeting was actually the slimmest affair the goldbugs have had in Baxter so far during the campaign. With Price's solo was all that seemed to keep the meeting awake.

CHANGE OF OFFICE.

Andrew Shearer of Lyon township, who was elected county treasurer at the election held last fall, was inducted into office last week, succeeding A. D. Watts. Mr. Shearer has made Robert P. Miles his assistant.

January 14, 1891, Senator Ingalls said, while supporting the free coinage of silver: "Mr. President, it may be cause, it may be coincidence, it may be effect, it may be post hoc or it may be proper hoc, but it is historically true that this great blight that has fallen upon our industries, this paralysis that has overtaken our financial system, coincided in point of time with the inauguration of the circulating medium of the country. The public debt was declared payable in coin, and the power of silver was destroyed. The value of property diminished in proportion, wages fell, and the value of everything was depreciated except debts and gold. The mortgage, the bond, the coupon and the tax have retained immortal youth and vigor. They have not depreciated. The debt remains, but the capacity to pay has been destroyed. The accumulation of years disappears under the hammer of the sheriff, and the debtor is homeless, while the creditor obtains the security for his debt for a fraction of what it was actually worth when the debt was contracted. There is, Mr. President, a deep-seated conviction among the people, which I fully share, that the demonization of silver in 1873 was one element of a great conspiracy to deliver the fiscal system of this country over to those by whom it has in my opinion, finally been captured."

A Secret.

At the burlesque, the other night, we wondered what had become of the "baldhead row." After the show we learned that Kane, the druggist had recently ordered a fresh supply of Beggs' Hair Renewer.

T. V. Powderly, the "fired" president of the Knights of Labor, who was billed to speak in Galena one night last week, failed to put in an appearance. For two days prior to the date set the Galena Daily Times published Mr. Powderly's speech favorable to the free coinage of silver made two years ago, and as Mr. Powderly is this year talking in favor of a gold standard, it is thought by many that he was ashamed to face the audience after the people of that locality had been educated as to his record.

JOHN M. COOPER.

Baxter Springs, Kansas.

INGALLS IN 1891.

In the Senate of the United States on January 14, 1891, John J. Ingalls made a great speech in favor of the free coinage of silver. The financial bill was pending. The question being upon Senator Stewart's free coinage amendment, Mr. Ingalls said, in part:

"I shall cordially support the amendment of the Senator from Nevada. In doing so I not only follow the dictates of my own judgment, but I carry out the wishes of a great majority of my constituents, irrespective of party or political affiliation. I have been for the free coinage of silver from the outset, and I am free to say that after having observed the operations of the act of 1873 I am more than ever convinced of the wisdom of that legislation and of the futility of the accusations by which it was assailed. The people of the country that I represent have lost their reverence for gold. They have no longer any superstition about coin. Notwithstanding all the declarations of the monometallists; notwithstanding all the assaults that have been made by those who are in favor of still further increasing the value of the standard by which their possessions are measured, they know that money is neither wealth, nor capital, nor value, and that it is merely the creation of the law by which all these are estimated and measured."

FROM GARFIELD'S BROTHER.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 10.—The following letter is from a brother of the late President James A. Garfield:

"Jonestown, Mich., Oct. 9.—Hon. E. C. Watkins, chairman Union Silver State Central Committee, Grand Rapids: I am diametrically opposed to allowing England or any European power, or any other power to be consulted or to dictate in any way our financial policy. I am in favor of capital, but I am opposed to having capitalists hoarding their money in national bank vaults or investing it in government bonds. I want capital put where it will do work."

"I was proud to be a Republican when Republican principles were voiced by Abraham Lincoln, U. S. Grant, John A. Logan and James A. Garfield, but I am opposed to having the principles of the Republican party voiced by the banker bond-holders of Lombard and Wall streets, through their agent, Mark Hanna. I am an American, hence I am opposed to consulting any other power in our American policy, especially in finance."

"THOMAS GARFIELD."

Facts Speak Louder Than Words.

Out of the 4,000,000 boxes of Beggs' German Salve sold in 1895, only three boxes were returned as unsatisfactory. This seems almost incredible as every box has a positive guarantee accompanying it. A. R. Kane has been fortunate in securing the agency for this perfect ointment.

One would scarcely believe it, but the "gold craze" is on its last legs.

The Perfect Ointment.

The virtue of Beggs' German Salve is its quick healing power, else it would not have earned its worldwide reputation. Use it for burns, scalds, bruises and sores of all kinds. Your popular druggist, A. R. Kane, has it.

Caution.

All instantaneous cough cures contain opiates and are liable to dry up the phlegm and mucus in the bronchial tubes and lungs, thereby causing congestion. We guarantee Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup against this danger. A. R. Kane sells it.

Do you want to be blind? Drink coffee. Drink lots of it. Drink it with breakfast, lunch and dinner, and drink it between meals. Drink it when you get up in the morning and drink it before you go to bed at night. Drink it long and strong, and keep it up, and by and by you will be as sightless as the proverbial bat. That is what the celebrated French physician, St. Arnaud, says, and there are New York doctors who endorse the declaration.

Shall it be 16 to 1?

Silver men say yes; gold men say no. But all who have used it, whether gold or silver men, concede that Foley's Honey and Tar Cough Syrup is superior to all others as 16 to 1.
